THE SUBTLE BODY

FACULTY: Jessica Patterson

Discover how the chakra system can clear and heal obstacles, freeing you to move closer toward balance, gratitude, and grace. Closer, that is, to yoga. The chakras provide us with a structured model for deep therapeutic inquiry and transformation, as well as a map for understanding the evolution and expansion of our consciousness (the knowing principle, what we are aware of). Far from being merely esoteric and "new agey," the chakra system is a practical tool for all yogis. Chakras are the energetic centers where prana, or the vital life force, is either channeled or trapped. Each chakra corresponds to unique relationships in our lives and is associated with specific physical, psychological, emotional, and spiritual considerations. We can deepen our understanding of the energetic centers through their associated asanas, bija (seed) mantras, elements, intentions, and qualities. Using these powerful investigative tools, we will explore the central qualities and questions governed by each chakra, and listen into the conversations among them. begin to reveal (and help heal) emotional, energetic, psychological, physical, spiritual, and relational imbalances.

MODULE 5 | AUGUST 16-18, 2024 | VIRTUAL

YOGA FOR GRIEF RELIEF

FACULTY: Antonio Sausys

Grief is the body's response to loss, any loss. When going through any given condition, we not only lose the 'dream of a healthy life' but we also experience the loss related to the restrictive nature of the condition's symptoms. It is then important to identify some symptoms related to grief and to learn ways to address them. In this workshop participants will learn about the physical symptoms of grief, its psycho-neuro-immunological basis and a set of simple Yoga exercises to address them while aiding the psychological transformation of grief into a resource of personal growth. A comparative analysis is made of the Western and Eastern models of the Psyche stating the importance of the psychic centers' involvement both physically and emotionally and specially in regard to the yogic theory of attachment. The methodology alternates theoretical lectures with experiential work.

One of the greatest challenges in life is finding ways to deal constructively with stress. Stress affects us physically, mentally, and emotionally. In the short term, it can affect our well-being and our relationships. In the long term, it can undermine our health. We now know that stress is one of the major factors that predispose us to chronic diseases. Fortunately, in recent years, great strides have been made in our understanding of the stress response and how to work constructively with stress.

In this three-day course, we will review the science of human function and factors that make us more vulnerable to the effects of stress. We will also learn how to use self-care techniques from the ancient tradition of yoga, including movement, breathing techniques and meditation to help us build resilience through the daily stressors we experience in our lives.
